Veolia Transportation Awarded Fixed Route Contract In Hinesville Georgia

Newly Created Contract Provides Service Near Savannah, GA

Chicago, IL – The City of Hinesville awarded Veolia Transportation a fixed route contract for service beginning December 1, 2008. The announcement was made earlier this week by Veolia Transportation's President and COO, Mike Griffus.

This newly created service, Hinesville Transit, will serve the cities of Flemington and Hinesville, and the military base at Fort Stewart, providing transportation to major shopping, work and health care activity centers. Hinesville is located roughly 30 miles from Savannah, GA.

In making the announcement Griffus said, "Hinesville is one of the fastest growing cities in Georgia. It's a progressive city and home to one of our country's military bases. We're proud to have been selected to be part of this very impressive community." We know our world-class transportation experience will be a great asset as we partner with the City of Hinesville to build a top quality transportation system."

The City of Hinesville plans to purchase seven 20-passenger cutaway vans. Veolia Transportation will manage and operate under the contract which has a three year base with a two year option.
