Veolia Transportation Awarded Contract Renewal in Las Vegas

Company will continue to operate largest private fixed route contract in U.S.

OAK BROOK, ILLINOIS: (January 24, 2008) Veolia Transportation announced it has been awarded a two-year contract in Las Vegas, with the Regional Transportation Commission (RTC) of Southern Nevada.

The new contract begins April 6th and includes fixed route services for Citizens Area Transit (CAT), Bus Rapid Transit (BRT) known as MAX; and the Deuce, which is the bus service that operates along the Las Vegas Strip.

On behalf of the RTC, Veolia operates 350 vehicles, services 48 routes and employs 1,200 people. Approximately 200,000 passengers are transported each weekday — more than 60 million annually, up from just 15 million when the service began in 1993.

"This is a very exciting opportunity for Veolia and for Las Vegas," said Tim Collins, Veolia's Las Vegas Regional Vice President. "We have partnered with the RTC for 15 years now and through that partnership we have continued to expand service to meet the needs of the continually growing population and expanding tourism industry of Las Vegas. This renewal illustrates the faith and trust the RTC has in our capabilities and in our understanding of their needs."

Veolia Transportation's President and Chief Operating Officer, Mike Griffus, added, "Our long history and partnership with the RTC is tremendously important to us. They have a strong vision of the innovation and technology they wish to deliver to the passengers they serve in Las Vegas. Veolia shares that vision and has worldwide experience to continue to make this service one of the best in the world. We look forward to the next two years and to the exciting things that are going to take place with this service."

The Las Vegas service is consistently ranked one of the most efficient and safe transit systems in the country. It has been rated in the Top 10 urban public transit systems in the U.S., and has received many awards from the American Public Transportation Association for safety and operating excellence.

Mark Joseph, Vice-Chair and CEO of Veolia Transportation in North America stated, "Veolia's extensive track record of innovations that improve the customer experience
