Veolia Transportation Presents Maintenance Safety Awards At Annual Meeting

Las Vegas, NV – February 25, 2014 – Maintenance employees at three Veolia Transportation contract locations were recognized last month for exemplary safety in their vehicle maintenance operations.

Safety awards were presented to representatives from Veolia’s contract locations in Dekalb, IL, Seattle, WA, and Victor Valley, CA. These three locations were selected from more than 130 contract locations nationwide.

Ken Westbrook President and COO for Veolia Transportation’s Transit Division and Shelly Hall, Vice President for Safety and Security for the Transit Division jointly presented the awards during the company’s annual meeting for its Maintenance Managers

In addition to these three award-winning locations, 29 Veolia locations were also acknowledged for their safety achievements. These locations collectively garnered over 10,000 days without lost time in maintenance due to injuries. Many Veolia locations nationwide had records of operating over 100 days without any lost time due to injuries.

“Safety is our culture in Veolia”, said Hall. Everything we do is aimed at managing our operations in the safest manner possible. It is so rewarding to see our employees take the training information and utilize it to make their work surroundings safer for themselves and their fellow workers.”

Veolia plans to continue to work with its locations across the country to ensure safety remains the top priority for everyone. According to Hall, “in order to maintain a culture of safety, everyone has to do their part.”
